Finally, a fun country music song about soldiers coming home is hitting the airwaves.

Country singer, songwriter, and recording artist, Brian Stace is a native of Madison, WI and currently lives in Nashville, TN. His new radio single, "Honey Get Your Clothes Off (Daddy's Comin' Home)," was written by Brian Stace, and Page Jackson of Los Angeles and will soon be pushed through radio outlets everywhere.

KKGO Go Country 105.1 FM Will be one of the first stations to spin the new single and will be spotlighting Brian as a featured artist on Friday morning Sept 28th from 5:30 to 6:30 am. Check out www.gocountry105.com for more information.

Help make this song a number one hit; in turn, helping to bring the song to the forefront for our Military. Call your local radio station and request the song and if you live in the LA area, contact the following people to request "Honey Get Your Clothes Off" on KKGO Go Country 105.1 FM.

Recently Brian finished filming a TV show with the Redneck Adventures TV in Wisconsin after performing on the main stage at Country Thunder Fest WI. The show will be airing in November to over 50 million homes. Take a look at www.redneckadventures.com for more information.

After completing Military Tours for the troops in Iraq, Kosovo and Afghanistan as well as touring around the country, Brian has been asked back once again to play for the US troops in the Balkans near the end of December into the New Year. Since his tour in the Middle East Brian has received letters from soldiers, military families and military sweethearts requesting his CD, and thanking him for his kindness and their rocking performance in the Middle East.

Brian recently signed a deal with Zoomoozik to be the flagship Country Artist for the new digital record label. Take a look at zoomoozik.com/BrianStace to preview songs and for more information.
